Almost all of the later work at the present time, will not have to be replaced, will prove adequate where mains, submains and relief installed. The only part of system to be abandoned is near the west outlet, which proven incapable of carrying flow.

Medical men and health officials generally have condemned, on uncertain terms, the heat conditions in the vicinity of Fifth and Beacon avenue, where the sewer empties into the ditch. From Fifth and Beacon flow is lead into Brushy Creek out treatment of any sort.

During the protest meeting following objections were the new sewer installation was not of a sufficient size for expansion, that the cost on North Grand avenue is a failure and that the cost of project was too high for the age man to stand, considering bank failure here last year.

The sewer measure was the last business to be taken up at the meeting. Prior to that the installation of the new councilmembers were installed and appointments of city officials were made for the ensuing year.

The council meeting was called to order by Mayor Babcock, with the following members present, Browneller, Brockman, Coontz, Dickman, Harned, Ilgenfritz, Kell and Miller.
