

RESIDENT HERE FOR NINETY YEARS DIES

MISS INDIANA MILLER, 93,
LONG IN TAILORING
BUSINESS

Miss Indiana Miller, resident of the city of Monroe for more than 90 years, died at 5 o'clock this morning in the home of Mrs. Anna Miller, 1503 Nineteenth street. Age and complications caused her death. Miss Miller would have celebrated her 93rd birthday on Tuesday of next week. She had been bedfast for the past three months, up to which time she had enjoyed her usual good health.

She was born in Clinton, Ind., for which state she was named, on March 21, 1840, the daughter of Jacob and Barbara Miller. The family moved to Monroe when she was a small child.

Miss Miller conducted a tailor shop on the square above the Hefty-Jones clothing store for about 40 years. After retiring from active business, she had a small tailor shop in her home until about six years ago.

She was the youngest of a family of 11 children and was the last of the family. Several nieces and nephews survive. The late Mrs. Frank Harris, Lancaster, who was formerly Miss Florence Miller, Monroe, was a niece.

Miss Miller was a lifelong member of the Methodist church, Monroe.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Miller, 1503 Nineteenth street. Rev. T. S. Beavin, of the Methodist church, officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.
