Haley and Scheidt Return From Ft. Peck

John Haley and Carl Scheidt returned Thursday from Hinsdale, Mont., where they have been employed this summer with the R. Newton McDowell Cons. Co., on the Ft. Peck Dam project. Mr. Haley and Mr. Scheidt made a sightseeing trip of their drive home and saw a number of places and things of much interest. In the Black Hills of South Dakota they visited the Rushmore Memorial, the work of the world's famous sculptor Gutzon Borglum. Here the busts of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln in gigantic size are carved on the face of the solid granite hills. Just before reaching the Memorial they passed through the famous Needle Drive. Many thousands of miles of new roads have been constructed here recently and numerous tunnels through mountain passes. One of these tunnels faces the Rushmore Memorial and forms a frame for the faces on the distant hillside.

From there they went to Cheyenne, Wyo., where they visited in the home of Mr. Haley's brother, Mr. Haley, W. E. Haley and son Lyman and daughter, Mrs. John Worner.

Mr. Haley and Mr. Scheidt expect to return to Montana in the spring.
