He was happily married to Leona Capp, and to this union one son was born, Paul Scrutchfield, who lives in Wilmington, Dela. Mr. Scrutchfield's first wife died in 1930. In 1932 he was married to Mrs. Josie Cox, of Macon, Mo., who survives him. She was faithful to him until death.

Mr. Scrutchfield spent most of his business life in the drug business in Clarence. In his passing he leaves his wife, Mrs. Josie Scrutchfield, a son, Paul, of Wilmington, Dela.; three sisters, Miss Lola Scrutchfield, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Clara Abbott, of Clarinda, Ia., and Mrs. Irene Fuller, of Laramie, Wyo. One sister preceded him in death, Mrs. Edna Vaughn.

When Mr. Scrutchfield was a mere lad he entered the employ of A. R. Tucker, a druggist, whose business he later bought for himself and he has been continuously in this business for over thirty-five years.

Mr. Scrutchfield was an influential man in his town. Always standing for those things that he thought were right. He served for some time on the Board of Education of the school district.

Mr. Scrutchfield joined the Methodist church during the ministry of Rev. V. O. White, about 1913. He was for many years a member of the board of stewards of his church and even during his illness, because of his continued interest and many years of faithful service, he was retained on the board as an honorary member.

He will be greatly missed in our community and in Shelby county. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.

It has been my privilege of knowing Mr. Scrutchfield only four months, but in my frequent visits in his home, I have never met a more courteous and kind Christian gentleman. He bore his suffering with great courage and patience and was always hopeful.
