We Thank Each of You

We would indeed be unappreciative if we did not express our thanks to the many who have paid their subscriptions to The Courier since our last issue. Our out of town readers and rural route subscribers have especially favored us by renewing their subscriptions and a number of new subscribers. The price will remain two years for $3 or one year for $1.50 until January 1st. It's a good time for many others to pay up.

Methodist Church

We had a good day last Sunday in every respect. Splendid weather and good congregations made the day one of inspiration and helpfulness. The quarterly meeting Monday night, though hindered by bad weather was very encouraging. Reports showed everything practically in full to date, and the finances of the church are being handled very satisfactorily.

The campaign launched Sunday for raising our Conference collections was a great success. Some fifteen of our men spent the Sunday afternoon collecting for these interests, the chief difficulty being, the weather was too nice so many were not at home. Repors are not yet all in, but the indications are that several hundred dollars were collected. These men will continue with the work until the entire canvass has been made. We trust that it will result in providing for the entire amount we are asked to raise.

All of the regular services next Sunday at the usual hours. We solicit your attendance at these services.

A business and social meeting of the Senior League will be held in the basement of the church on Thursday night of this week, to which all members are invited.

Please remember the entertainment to be given at the church next Monday night, a notice of which appears in another place in this paper. This promises to be of unusual interest and you are cordially invited to attend.
