Ralph and Zelma (Noel) Dines wrote in March, 1967 that the 1909 picture is of a summer term. "Winter and Summer terms were the usual thing way back then - I know that had changed by the time we came to the new school. We remember that we all had new straw hats almost like the boys have on in the picture only the mothers put ribbons on the girls' hats that were sometimes turned up in front with a ribbon bow. Going barefoot that spring term was another great thing. We think the Spring term was April, May, June and fall and winter term September through January - not sure though." Many older boys did not go to school during months that they were needed at home to do farm work.

LENTNER SCHOOL
1924 - 1925
Florence Adams - teacher

They were either “coming or going” - going to school or leaving for home. This was a photo from Florence Adams provided in 1967. Can you identify the students? With their Winter garb they all look pretty much alike. Notice the lunch pails in hand or on the ground. One joker has a pail on his head. In later years, we would take a favorite food in a pint jar and the teacher, Carl Gerlich, would heat the jars in a big kettle of water. That was a forerunner of the “hot lunch” program.
